WORKFORCE TRAINING

Businesses need well-trained workers – and workers need jobs. Rapidly changing technology and the current business environment demand that workers are trained to meet the needs of business. Partner with Job Service North Dakota to customize your workforce development strategies. Workforce training programs provide funds for North Dakota's in-demand occupations and help prepare individuals for work.

Job Service North Dakota administers the following workforce training programs:

ON-THE-JOB TRAINING (OJT)

Have you ever interviewed a job seeker that would fit your business but who lacked the necessary skills? On-the-Job Training provides direct financial benefits to your business to train potential employees lacking the necessary skills, experience, or education to fill available positions. Additionally, the benefits extend to promoting current employees by training them at work.

Here is how your company can benefit:

- A portion of the employee training costs are reimbursed (up to 50 percent)
- Businesses have the opportunity to train employees to meet their needs
- Businesses can expand or upgrade their workforce
- Available assistance for developing a training proposal
- Minimal paperwork required
- Training period can run up to 26 weeks

Program requirements include:

- Approval prior to hiring or promoting selected individuals
- Full-time year-round employment or no less than a 32-hour work week (some exceptions apply)
- Retention of OJT employees upon successful completion of training

CLASSROOM TRAINING

Improving job skills is an important part of job success. Financial assistance may be available for vocational or other educational programs. Opportunities for occupational skills and basic or remedial skill development may also be available to assist individuals toward obtaining a credential, degree, or certification. Individuals must be willing to explore all sources of funding for school.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Be a worksite for a youth, age 24 or younger, who needs work experience. This may include a short-term job or internship with a public, nonprofit, or private-for-profit business. The business provides the worksite and supervision while the workforce training program pays the wages. Work experience allows youth to improve work readiness skills and explore business operations related to their career interests and goals.

TRADE ADJUSTMENT ASSISTANCE (TAA)

Workers whose employment is adversely affected by foreign competition may receive Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA) under the Trade Act Program. TAA includes a variety of reemployment services and benefits to help unemployed workers prepare for and obtain suitable employment.

NORTH DAKOTA NEW JOBS TRAINING

North Dakota New Jobs Training program provides incentives to primary-sector businesses creating new employment opportunities through start-up, expansion, or relocation to the state. The program provides funding to businesses to help offset costs of training new employees through the capture of ten years of state income tax withholding generated from new jobs. Primary sector certification is obtained from the North Dakota Department of Commerce.

REGISTERED APPRENTICESHIP

Registered Apprenticeships offer on-the-job training combined with technical instruction that offers a solution to filling job vacancies more quickly. Apprenticeships benefit businesses by providing an ongoing supply of skilled workers that are trained to fit your needs and work environment. Apprenticeships are tailored to enhance business plans.

Apprenticeships are not just electricians and boilermakers. You will find apprenticeship programs in a wide variety of industries. North Dakota has identified manufacturing, energy, information technology and healthcare as prime industries for apprenticeship programs. Apprenticeship is an effective solution in any occupation that involves progressive attainment of manual, mechanical or technical skills and knowledge which meets industry standards for that occupation. It is used for both non-union and union career opportunities.

Contact any Job Service North Dakota workforce center office listed on the back of this brochure and ask for a business service advisor to discuss the many opportunities that an apprenticeship program may bring to your business.

More information can be found on the North Dakota Department of Commerce website: <https://www.workforce.nd.gov/workforce/apprenticeship>

WORK OPPORTUNITY TAX CREDIT

All for-profit businesses can receive the tax credit for hiring individuals in all target groups listed below and the tax credit is also available to tax-exempt organizations that hire qualified veterans. There is no limit to the number of new hires that can qualify. FEDERAL BONDING

A bond is written on behalf of an employee and protects a business from loss of money or property sustained through a dishonest act of that employee, i.e. theft, forgery, larceny, or embezzlement. The program is a business job-hire incentive that guarantees the job honesty of an at-risk job seeker by issuing a bond on the job seeker.

In order for a bond to be issued, the job seeker must receive a job offer and the business must schedule a date to start work. Bonds are issued in the standard amount of $5,000 and provide coverage for six months from the date the business affirms the hire with the Job Service North Dakota Federal Bonding Coordinator.

To inquire about the Federal Bonding program you may contact any of the Job Service North Dakota offices listed on the back of this brochure. To secure a bond, contact the Job Service North Dakota Federal Bonding Coordinator at 701-328-3034.

Job Service North Dakota will gather basic information from the business and complete the required paperwork. The business does not need to complete any paperwork. The insurance company that issues the bond will mail it directly to the business.

The Federal Bonding Program is sponsored by the US Department of Labor and Union Insurance Group.
